

Paul Cezanne's biography

Paul Cézanne was born on January 19th, 1839 in Aix-en-Provence and died on October 22nd, 1906. He was a French painter. He is part of the impressionist movement.

He made different styles of painting like still life and portraits. On his still life there are fruits and others like on his painting The basket of apples, but he also represents people in their everyday lives. He paints self-portraits.

He practices the same work as his father, Louis-Auguste Cézanne. Before painting Paul studied law. He was Emile Zola's friend and the writer supports Paul in his work. Cézanne and I is a film that shows their friendship. It was released in 2016. Eugène Delacroix is one of the people who inspired him. His wife Hortense Fiquet is a model for his portraits. They will get married on April 28th, 1886 and will have 1 child.
